Academic/not-for-profit sector subscriptions

CbI offers a special annual subscription package that allows academic institutions and NGOs to subscribe to African Energy or GSN and receive all the benefits of an unlimited user Internet licence at a fraction of the cost.

The subscription package includes institution-wide archive access to all the regular current and archived content for a particular publication and a fortnightly emailed PDF of published content. This does not include all special reports.

The 2013 annual price is £785

Orders may be placed by emailing subscriptions@cbi-publishing.com

Detailed terms

The minimum term of a licence is 12-months.

Once ordered a licence is non-refundable.

The subscription licence covers only staff of the named licence holder – the specific entity named in the licence application or purchase. It does not extend to the staff of sub-contractors, or partner companies/institutions.

Sharing of published content with other institutions is not permitted without prior written authorisation from CbI – including inter-library loans.

Access to a publication's archives is usually provided through the main IP address(es) of the licence holder

The licence holder has the right to distribute subscription resources to any member of staff (and in the case of academic institutions, students) working within the departments/institution covered by the licence.

Resources published during the term of a licence may be shared on a secure intranet that can only be viewed by staff/students of the licence holder.

At the end of the subscription term the licence holder has the right to maintain their own record of any issues published during the term of their subscription.

Subscriptions are sold on a fair-usage basis – while customers are encouraged to use and download resources from our archives we do monitor usage and do not permit customers to simply copy the archives onto their computer or local intranet. Attempts to do so may result in termination of the subscription(s) in question.

The licence holder is responsible for informing the publisher of any change in IP addresses, email addresses or any other information necessary for CbI to fulfil the terms of the subscription.
